Explore Quebec, North America's most European corner, where cobblestones and cathedrals still reign supreme and some of the country's finest cuisine graces rustic tables. Begin in Mont-Tremblant, the province's picturesque ski village nestled in the scenic Laurentian Mountains. Ride a gondola to the top before continuing to raging falls and a serene shrine. Stroll the narrow streets of Quebec City, one of North America's oldest settlements. Enjoy a unique gourmet dining experience in the dark. Follow the St. Lawrence to Charlevoix and cruise the Saguenay Fjord in search of whales. Indulge in cheese, chocolate and a Chateau Taillefer Lafon wine tasting. End beneath Mount Royal in the cosmopolitan city of Montreal.
